STUDENT COUNCIL

February 17 the Student Council sponsored a Sweetheart Ball in the Food Center.

It was a semiformal dinner-dance.

Mrs. Jones, head of food services, and the K.S.B. cooks prepared an exquisite meal for the dinner. Danny Beemer, 1976 graduate of K.S.B., was M.C. for the dance.

Thanks one and all for making the dance a success.

Creative Writing Contest

Stories, riddles, poems, and jokes are all part of this year's creative writing contest. The May issue of the Ky. Colonel will feature the writing of KSB students. All entries must be entered by April 8. There are four categories to choose from: Poetry, Jokes-Riddles, Stories, and Essays-Themes. The writing may be written by small groups (2 or 3 persons working together) and/or by individuals. Copies may be brailled, printed, or typed.

There will be five judges, (two faculty, two administration, and the Colonel Staff).

Please make sure all work is neat and signed by the author.

All articles may be given to Mrs. Hay in Room 306.

What says it's time for March?

Is it the jonquil, bright. . .

or is it when the first small boy sends up his paper kite?

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Brown-eyed Richard Barnhart, a seventeen-year-old senior from Louisville, Ky., has attended K.S.B. for five years.

He has participated in many athletic sports, such as track (five years), wrestling (four years), and bowling (two years). In March of '76 he was named High School All-American Wrestler, and in the summer of '76 he received a silver medal in the Blind Olympics for track.

Richard is a very easy-going person filled with high ambitions. After graduating he plans to attend college to further his education.

FORENSICS '77

K.S.B. will host this year's speech contest involving Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin Schools for the Blind on March 4 and 5.

Participants will choose from ten categories which are Four-minute speech, oratory, impromptu, extemporaneous speaking, serious declamation, humorous declamation, prose reading, poetry reading, story-telling and duet acting.

Competition will begin Friday evening at 5:30. Exhibition rounds will be Saturday morning.

ACTORS THEATRE

On Wednesday, February 9, fourteen students from Mrs. Hay's English classes went to see "The Matchmaker" at the Actors Theatre.

George Bouquet, Faye Cain, Debbie Cheek, Kenny Jones, Tom Liggett, Jenny Montgomery, Mike Osborne, David Raynes, Leslie Riggs, Brenda Day, Debbie Broyles, Don Young, Don Stivers and Billy Wright enjoyed the play.

On March 9 the same students will attend "The Diary of Anne Frank".

One crocus...one robin...one bee...
can start a spring...
you'll see!

PLAYING AND SINGING

On March 25 the Annual State Music Festival for Instrumentalists will be held for Jefferson County students at the University of Louisville. One judge judges students on the point basis of 1 superior, 2 excellent, 3 good and 4 fair.

Junior High students participating from K.S.B. are Doug Woodson-trumpet, Tim Jones-clarinet, Clyde Coulter-saxophone, Charles Mattingly-trombone, Andy Fannin-violin, Kim Holmes-violin, Dwayne Moore-violin.

High school students are Steve South-trumpet, Debbie Cheek-flute, Debbie Broyles-clarinet, Mary Jo Hackworth-clarinet, Ronnie Wheatley-saxophone, Kenny Jennings-saxophone.

Band director Tom Morton says, "It's an opportunity to be judged with students from several schools."

Two weeks later on April 8, the Annual State Music Festival for vocalists will be held. Students participating from K.S.B. are Mary Barnes, Helen Young Parson and Kenneth Jones.

QUEEN COMPETITION

Spirits were high as six excited cheerleaders competed for N.C. Queen.

Faye Cain, a sophomore, was chosen to be the representative from Kentucky. In the N.C. she competed with ten girls from different states for the title of N.C. Queen. Each girl performed individual cheers along with drawing a topic and discussing it.

June Smith from Missouri was crowned by Janis Bodean for the 1977-78 N.C.A.S.B. Queen. Faye did a very fine job representing Kentucky.

NEW STUDENTS

K.S.B. has received two new students from Louisville, six-year-old Laura Davis and five-year-old Scott Spaulding.

Welcome to K.S.B.

WILDCATS DO IT AGAIN

Things looked pretty bad Tuesday before the N.C.A.S.B. was to be held. All twelve schools were informed that the Ohio School for the Blind couldn't host the tournament because of the fuel shortage in Ohio.

But a few hours later the Indiana School for the Blind graciously accepted the 21st N.C.A.S.B. wrestling and cheerleading competition.

Kentucky, for the second straight year, won the class B division with 126 points and the second overall.
